

Ryan Kennedy is a third year student at The Juilliard School, studying organ with Paul Jacobs. Previously, he was a student of Timothy Lewis at the Music Conservatory of Westchester. Ryan has held positions at various churches in his native Hudson Valley, and is currently the Organ Scholar at Morristown Presbyterian Church in New Jersey. In 2013, he won the AGO Regional Competition for Young Organists, representing Region II. As a result, he was a featured "Rising Star" recitalist at Old South Church in Boston at the 2014 AGO National Convention. Upcoming concerts involve such venues as St. John the Divine and St. Thomas Church in New York City, Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church in Plainfield, and Grace Episcopal Church in White Plains. Also an avid pianist and opera lover, he enjoys transcribing music and coaching singers.
